

Kashmira Sheth

Biography

Kashmira Sheth grew up in Bhavangar, Gujarat for eight years. When she was three, she went to a Montessori school. She lived with her grandparents because her parents lived in Mumbai, which is three hundred miles away from Bhavangar.

At eight years old, Sheth left Bhavangar for Mumbai. She did her studying there until she was seventeen. She left Mumbai to go to college in Ames, Iowa to earn her BS at Iowa State University. Many people ask her why she chose Iowa. "I chose Iowa State, because my uncle worked there as a professor." is the answer.

She is the author of seven books. Two of them are picture books: My Dadima Wears a Sari and Monsoon Rains. She has three books meant for teens.

Kashmira Sheth now lives with her two daughters, Neha and Rupa, and her husband in Madison, Wisconsin.—Adapted from www.goodreads.com
